The cases were submitted to the solicitor in Wales by the GMC. not the police . The GMC could not deal with their own solicitors Field Fisher Waterhouse as the police had used them. The GMC then changed their minds and decided to "sack" the solicitors in Wales and go back to Field Fisher Waterhouse for the GMC hearing – Mike Wilson's case was not heard at the GMC hearing. I had suggested Mike should contact the solicitors in Wales. I would allege the police began to get nervous when more cases were considered "strong" which they had not investigated in detail or sent on to the GMC. Mike Wilson like a number of families "gave up" after the prolonged investigations by police although I understood he was one of the few who actually made a statement. Gillian
