Nina – you probably know more about syringe drivers etc. than I do. Gillian

It is imperative that the Haslar medical file is referred to together with the Statements from Haslar staff – see list in Livesley's Report – the only "professional one" !. I suggest a better copy of the drug charts is obtained from the Gosport papers instead of experts guessing at times the drugs were given - see Livesley's comments and there is also the Joice write up that all medications were given at 8.30 in the morning !. somewhat different to the other records and as I have previously said I know the syringe drivers were not calibrated properly and I expressed concerns more than once that when a syringe driver ran out and was not charged up immediately there was a possibility of air bubble. My only experience of this was in dealing with a Hickman line and flushing out daily, which I had to do at home when dealing with Hamish – but agreed I have no experience of dealing physically with a syringe driver except as a witness at the Marsden.
