Dear Sue

I have just confirmed with staff that would have been processing the reports at that time and what I said is essentially correct.
 The vast majority of test results would have been available the same day they arrived on the APEX computer system.
 They paper reports would have been printed overnight or early next morning and would have arrived at GWMH late morning.

Regards

Michael

Michael - can I just check that what I have drafted below to Mark Deeks is correct please.

Thanks

Hi Mary

Have now spoken to Biochemistry dept. In 1999 most test results were available on the same day and were put onto the APEX computer system and were accessible from GWMH via computer. The paper reports were not generated until the next day (late morning) and would be delivered in the afternoon of that day.
